Hard-Hitting, Action-Packed and Fast-Paced: Rhythmlink International Sponsors Richland County Regulators Derby Team

COLUMBIA, S.C. - February 22, 2010 - Bigger. Better. Faster. Stronger. The Richland County Regulators Derby Team [RCRDT] is starting the season by putting the Star City Roller Girls in their place with some support from Rhythmlink International.

Based in Columbia, S.C., Rhythmlink International is an official sponsor of the RCRDT for the 2010 season. In their opening bout, Fat Bruiseday, the RCRDT will battle the Star City Roller Girls at the National Guard Armory on Saturday, February 20. Doors open at 5 p.m. and the first whistle will blow at 6 p.m. Each home bout benefits a different local charity, and this home opener will benefit the Happy Wheels of Columbia.

"Rhythmlink is supporting a cutting edge sport. These leagues have popped up all over the nation and they are all run by the skaters for the skaters. The skaters pay dues to be a part of the league and compete. It is always helpful to have support from sponsors to help with the expense of producing a quality home season," said Martin Barry, Rhythmlink's regulatory affairs specialist.
