Rhythmlink Helps to Keep Things Green

COLUMBIA, S.C. - When was the last time you enjoyed the outdoors and helped out the environment?

Rhythmlink International spent Saturday morning walking both sides of Key Road collecting miscellaneous discarded items along the shoulder. As volunteers for the South Carolina Department of Transportation's [SCDOT] Adopt-A-Highway program, Rhythmlink helped to combat the growing litter problem along South Carolina's roadways.

"Even something as simple as helping to pick up trash along the road makes such a big difference in the community. During Rhythmlink's clean-up, I was pleasantly surprised at the number of people who thanked us for what we were doing. It definitely made my experience worthwhile," said Katie Okawa, a marketing coordinator for Rhythmlink.

Since 1988, the SCDOT Adopt-A-Highway program has remained one of the most successful programs in the state. For more information on how you can volunteer and be a part of something beautiful, visit the SCDOT's website at SCDOT.org.
